Using the Internet to Find Anything and Anyone (Dead or Alive)

Ron Arons

Monday, October 13, 2003

7:00 PM

Temple Reyim, Newton

The internet has vast resources, which can be used in a variety of ways. One only needs a bit of creativity to find the treasures that will help with the family research process. This is not just a theoretical lecture or simply a listing of websites. Many examples will be provided to show how anyone's family research process can be enhanced.

Ron Arons is a seasoned genealogist. He has traced his roots to England, Poland, Romania, the Ukraine, Belarus, and Lithuania. A member of the board of the San Francisco Jewish Genealogical Society, he has given presentations locally and abroad, including at the past three International Association of Jewish Genealogical Societies annual conferences in London, Toronto, and Washington, D.C.

Temple Reyim, 1860 Washington Street (Route 16), Newton, is near Newton-Wellesley Hospital and the Woodland stop on the Riverside Green Line, as well as a short ride from Route 128 at Exit 21.

Admission is free for members, $5 for non-members.

Refreshments will be served.

Advance notice of Beginners Workshop: December 14, 2003, at the Wellesley library.
