Find Your Family Roots: A Beginner's Workshop

Nancy Levin Arbeiter

Sunday, December 14

1 – 5 PM

Wellesley Free Library, Wellesley

Nancy Levin Arbeiter, an internationally known genealogist, will pack all the basics you need to know for beginner and middle-level genealogical research into a four-hour Beginner's Workshop. Though Nancy specializes in Jewish genealogy, most of the information is relevant for all genealogical researchers. Topics covered will include Research Logs, Analyzing the Evidence, Census Records, City Directories, Vital Records, Passenger Arrival Manifests, Naturalization Records, and Obituary and Cemetery Research. An extensive handout will be distributed at the workshop. Participants are asked to be on time.

Nancy Levin Arbeiter, CGRS, is a full-time professional genealogist specializing in Jewish family history research. She has a private research practice and since 1996 has also directed the genealogical research services at the American Jewish History Society. Nancy is the author of "A Beginner's Primer in U.S. Jewish Genealogical Research," published in AVOTAYNU: The International Review of Jewish Genealogy, 1998. She has taught the beginner's workshop at numerous past international Jewish genealogical conferences and has lectured widely on specific areas of genealogical research. Nancy was a speaker at the 2000 and 2003 National Genealogical Society Conferences held in Rhode Island and Pennsylvania.

Admission is FREE and open to the public. Pre-registration is required.

Phone: Wellesley Library-781-235-1610, ext. 105

Refreshments will be served.

The Jewish Genealogical Society of Greater Boston is a nonprofit organization of individuals interested in genealogical research. It conducts monthly educational programs.
