presents

Brandeis University as a Resource for the Jewish Genealogist

James Rosenbloom

Sunday, January 18, 2004
2:00–4:00 PM

Brandeis University Library
Rappaport Treasure Hall
(Parking in Lots E or L)

Did you know that Brandeis University offers a treasure trove of resources for Jewish genealogical research? James Rosenbloom, Judaica Specialist at Brandeis University, will meet us in the Rappaport Treasure Hall of the Brandeis University Library to introduce the genealogical resources available at Brandeis. Following the orientation, we will be given a tour through the Judaica area and shown the library's extensive collection of Yizkor books and microfilms of newspapers and periodicals.

James Rosenbloom has worked in the Judaica Department of the Brandeis University library system since 1976. He now oversees the entire collection of Judaica, including the Bible, rabbinics, Jewish thought, all periods of Jewish history, contemporary Jewry, and Hebrew and Yiddish literature.

Admission is free for members, $5 for non-members.
Refreshments will be served.

Upcoming programs:

- Feb 15 "Genealogy Roundtables: Special Interest Groups"
- Mar 16 "Research at the National Archives" (6–9 pm at NARA in Waltham)
- May 2 "Honor Our Ancestors' Memory: Cemetery Restorations"

The Jewish Genealogical Society of Greater Boston is a nonprofit organization of individuals interested in genealogical research. It conducts monthly educational programs.
