Problem Solving with Experts: A Research Session

Sunday, February 21, 2010
1:30–4:30 PM
Temple Emanuel, Newton Centre

Come problem solve with our experts. Learn how to get started or get over that “brick wall” in your family research. Visit various roundtables, some with computers connected to the Internet for online research. Beginners as well as more experienced attendees will be able to consult with experts for help with their family research.

Tables will be dedicated to:

- Immigration, Naturalization and Vital Records
- Getting Started with Jewish Genealogy
(e.g., using the JewishGen and Steve Morse websites)
- Holocaust Research
- Austria-Czech Roundtable
- Galicia Roundtable
- Lithuania Roundtable
- Polish Roundtable
- Ukraine Roundtable
- German Roundtable
- Translation of foreign-language documents
(e.g., Yiddish, Hebrew, Polish, German, Russian)

Genealogical reference materials will be available for perusal. So bring in your research questions and your foreign documents for translation. If you want help at the meeting in obtaining information about a relative, please try to have at least their name and their date and place of birth.

Temple Emanuel is at 385 Ward St., Newton Centre. For maps and detailed directions, visit our web page at <http://emanuel.jgs.gb.org>.

Admission is free for members, $5 for non-members.
Refreshments will be served.

Upcoming programs:

- Mar. 14 “Mapping Madness: Historical Maps” (Ron Arons) and “Google Earth” (Jay Sage)
- Apr. 25 “Sephardic Jewry after the Expulsion from Spain” (Jonathan Decter) and “Tracing Family to 13th Century Spain” (Daniel Laby)

The JGSGB is dedicated to helping people research their Jewish family history. It offers monthly educational programs, maintains an extensive collection of research materials, and publishes a journal, Mass-Pocha.
